WASHINGTON.

Naval Officers in Melbourne.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Commander Albert Barker, commanding the United States steamship Enterprise, in an official report to the Secretary of the Navy, speaks very enthusiastically of the treatment accorded to himself and his officers by the authorities and people at Melbourne, Australia. "The enterprising people of this magnificent city," he says, "vie with each other in extending their hospitality to the United States officers, and the chief danger now is that we may be killed with kindness. The invitations for excursions, parties, dinners, lunches, theatre entertainments and the like are showered upon us because we are Americans. Free passes over all the railroads in this country have been given each officer, and when it is remembered that there are nearly 2000 miles of railroad, and they are all under the control of the government, and that our passes are good for every mile of completed road and for every day of our sojourn here the value of this mark of attention can be faintly appreciated."

Appointments by the President.

The President to-day appointed Samuel J. Tilden, Jr., to be collector of internal revenue for the 15th district of New York vice Smart, suspended, and Wm. Hyde postmaster at St. Louis, Mo., vice Wells, suspended.

He is a resident of Lebanon, Columbia county, New York, where he has been engaged in business for many years. He was chairman of the Columbia county Democratic committee in 1884, and once served as a member of Gov. Cleveland's staff.

Mr. Hyde was endorsed by the entire Democratic Congressional delegation from Missouri and by many prominent citizens. He is at present editor of the St. Louis Republican.

THE NAIL MAKERS.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 10.—Secretary Wise of the Western Nail Association has been notified by the United Nailers Association of the appointment by the latter body of a conference committee to meet a similar committee from the manufacturers. Secretary Chew says that this advance is made with a hope that some action will be taken at the meeting of the Western Nail Association in Cincinnati tomorrow towards bringing about a settlement of the present strike. Officials of the Nailers Association are now considering the advisability of establishing a co-operative factory in this city to manufacture steel nails. It is proposed to fit up the mill with 100 nail machines the company to be composed of 25 nailers and as many feeders as can take stock.

Boston's New Collector.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The Traveler, Collector Worthington's paper, in an editorial today referring to the appointment of Leverett Saltonstall to the collectorship of Boston, says: The long expected and not unwelcome change in the collectorship of the port of Boston has been made at last by the appointment of Hon. Leverett Saltonstall of Newton, as the successor of Collector Worthington. This appointment cannot be criticised on the score of the personal qualification of the appointee for the office, as Mr. Saltonstall's deserved reputation as a cultured gentleman, a well trained lawyer and a successful and sagacious business man, abundantly testifies the appointment is one in every sense fitting, and should be satisfactory to the Massachusetts democracy, as it doubtless will be to the merchants of Boston.

ILL FATED STEAMER.

The Brooklyn of the Dominion Line Again Ashore.

She is Reported in a Dangerous Position.

Her Passengers and Crew Safely Landed.

QUEBEC, Nov. 10.—A despatch from the signal service agent at the southwest point of Anticosta states that a man from the steamer Brooklyn, of the Dominion line, had reached Heath Point and reported the steamer ashore at 6 a. m. on Sunday, ten miles off that point. The weather was very rough and two compartments of the vessel were full of water. Her position is dangerous. It is possible that the government steamer Napoleon will be sent to the Brooklyn's assistance. The Brooklyn was bound from Liverpool for this port.

[LATER.]

Later particulars from Heath Point say the passengers of the steamer Brooklyn were all safely landed and are scattered under canvas at different points along the coast and at fishermen's huts. It is generally conceded the vessel will be a total wreck, as the weather since she went ashore has been a succession of heavy northeast gales and blinding snow storms. And if no provisions have been saved, great privations will undoubtedly be experienced by the passengers and crew.

The Brooklyn had a crew of about 70 and 40 passengers. She had a general cargo for Quebec, Montreal and the West. The Brooklyn is an iron vessel, built in 1862, and classed A 1. She is of 2355 freight, and 3576 gross tons.

FELL WITH A CRASH.

Terrible Accident on an Illinois Railway Bridge.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A terrible accident, by which four men lost their lives, occurred at the new iron bridge which is being built near Keithsburg, Ill., yesterday. A number of workmen were on a temporary scaffold attempting to raise an iron stanchion preparatory to ironing the section of a long span of the bridge. When an angle of about 45 degrees had been obtained the post of the traveler gave way, and with a crash the whole staging, with men, machinery and the ponderous iron column, fell into the deep water below. Pat Conway, James McCann and John Olson are buried under the debris in the bottom of the river. Pat Noonan was killed, but his body was recovered. Wm. Bassett had both legs broken above the knees and one leg below the knee. One man whose name is not known, has a broken foot and is injured internally. The wounded are doing well.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Opening of the New England Congregational Convention.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The New England Congregational Sunday School Convention was opened this morning at Park Street Church. This convention consists of delegates from all Congregational Sunday schools of New England, called by the direction of the Sunday school committees of the different States associations of the Congregational societies. The chairman, T. W. Bicknell, called the meeting to order and the devotional exercises were led by the Rev. J. J. Wooley. The chairman then read his address, and the secretary, Rev. A. W. Davis, read a synopsis of the various meetings, preliminary to the organization. The committee on organization was appointed as follows: B. P. Snow, Maine; Charles R. Holbrook, New Hampshire; the Rev. J. H. Babbitt, Vermont; the Rev. M. M. Cutter, Massachusetts; William E. Coolidge, Connecticut; David A. Waldron, Rhode Island. The committee on enrollment was appointed as follows: W. R. Burnham, Connecticut; R. T. Oakes, Chicopee, Mass. A series of devotional exercises was then in order, led by the Rev. E. N. Packard of Dorchester and the Rev. A. S. Bullard, the oldest Sunday school worker in the United States, of Boston. The committee on organization reported that it unanimously recommended formation of a New England Sunday School Association; that the present efficient management be continued, and that later in the day they would present a constitution and a list of officers. The secretary read a greeting by the Rev. A. S. Bullard, the oldest Sunday school worker in the United States, of Boston. The committee on organization reported that it unanimously recommended formation of a New England Sunday School Association; that the present efficient management be continued, and that later in the day they would present a constitution and a list of officers. The secretary read a greeting by the President T. W. Bicknell of Dorchester; one of the vice presidents, Hon. Nelson Dingley of Lewiston, Me.; executive committee (Maine), George M. Howe of Lewiston and A. G. Dilley of Portland.

Rev. B. P. Snow of Biddeford, Me., spoke of the work in that State. He said that the Congregationalists there have now 21,000 church members and 22,620 Sunday school attendants. Of the 500,000 persons not yet connected with Sunday schools, about 100,000 are under 18 years of age.

THE ANTI-CHINESE TROUBLES.

Citizens of Seattle, W. T., Organizing to Preserve the Peace.

SEATTLE, W. T., Nov. 10.—Last night a meeting was held in the Opera House, which was attended by the clergy, lawyers, merchants, manufacturers and law abiding citizens generally. After speeches by Judge Burke, Assistant U. S. Attorney Lofland and others an organization 500 strong was effected for the purpose of preserving the peace whenever the the troops are withdrawn if the occasion should arise, and thereafter they will be divided into three companies and will be armed with rifles. A meeting will be held tomorrow to elect officers. The grand jury is now in session and it is thought indictments will be brought against the ringleaders of the anti-Chinese mob.

The Alleged Conspiracy Case.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 10.—Up to 11 o'clock today no officers from Boston had called upon the marshal of police in regard to the Mellen case. The marshal, however, has no warrant for the arrest of A. L. Mellen, and a vigorous effort will be made at once for his arrest. It is not known whether the accused is in Baltimore, but a squad of police will go through every room in the St. James Hotel for him. But as he has not been seen for some time it is surmised he has left the city. He has not indicated any line of defence to his counsel, but the fight will be made on the reputation of the witnesses for the prosecution. It is indended by the counsel of Mellen to oppose the surrender of Mellen on the requisition of the Governor of Massachusetts.

POSTAL MATTERS.

Present Number of Post Offices in the United States 51,252.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The First Assistant Postmaster General has submitted his annual report upon the operation of his bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1885. From the report it appears that the number of post offices established during the year was 2121, and the number discontinued 886, making the whole number of post offices at the end of the fiscal year 51,252, a net increase of 1235 during the year. The number of offices subject to appointments by the President was 2235, and the number subject to appointment by the Postmaster General of the fourth class was 49,019. Whole number of appointments during the year was 11,203, made up as follows: On resignations and commissions expired, 6204; removals and suspensions, 810; changes of names and sites, 207; deaths of postmasters 412; establishment of new offices 2221. The increase in the number of post offices was distributed as follows: New England States, 48; Middle States and District of Columbia, 111; Southern States and Indian Territory, 638; the ten States and six Territories of the West and northern Northwest, 375; the three States and three Territories of the Pacific slope, 65. The greatest increase in any State or Territory was 100 in Virginia; the increase in Dakota for the year was 71, and in Mississippi 59. The only decrease was in Nevada. The six States having the largest number of post offices were Pennsylvania, 3894; New York, 3157; Ohio, 2725; Illinois, 2188; Virginia, 2084; and Missouri, 1990. New York contained the largest number of presidential offices—213.

The total number of money order offices was 6992; an increase of 749.

Mr. Stevenson recommended that authority be conferred by legislation for the extension of the free delivery system to places of 10,000 inhabitants, having a gross revenue of $10,000. The report briefly states the advantages that have resulted from the consolidating of large free delivery offices, and recommends the same policy be applied to non free delivery offices so as to give them the benefit of a free delivery. The total amount allowed for clerk hire in post offices was $4,924,509; for rent, fuel and light of post offices $463,989; for salaries of postmasters, $2,430,000; adjusted during the year, $3,701,600; for salaries of presidential postmasters, $3,630,600. Since April, 1884, 2400 applications for review of salaries of postmasters, under the act of March 3, 1883, were received and filed. The number reviewed and readjusted was 16,521, and 5900 applications were allowed, involving an additional amount for compensation, or back pay, to postmasters of $378,922. As a result of the annual adjustment of salaries, 14 offices were added to the presidential list, and 116 offices were relegated to the 4th class. The grand total of the receipts at presidential offices for the year ended March 31, 1885, amounted to $31,792,220, and the aggregate salaries of postmasters will absorb 11.42 per cent of the revenues.

The postal receipts, says Mr. Stevenson, forming the basis of the salaries of presidential postmasters fluctuated with the favorable or unfavorable condition of the business of the country. At the present time reports show that the country is entering upon an era of prosperity and plenty, and therefore the receipts of offices will be required to pay the salaries of presidential postmasters during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1887.

The amount of compensation for clerk hire required during the same period is estimated at $5,150,000, making the total estimates for this branch of the service $9,587,000.

The Postmaster General recommends that provision be made for the payment of rent for third class offices, and for the payment of expenses for fuel, light, stationery and miscellaneous items for these offices. It is also recommended that January 1st, 1887, be fixed as the limit for presentation of an application for readjustment of salaries under the act of March 3d, 1883.

THE WRECK OF THE ALCOMA.

Forty-Eight Lives Known to Have Been Lost.

Thrilling Narrative of Capt. Moore.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Nov. 10.—Forty-eight persons were lost by the wrecking of the steamer Algoma. They were, so far as known: Mrs. Dudgeon and her son, aged 3, of St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Frost, relatives of R. P. Crutchard, of Owen Sound; George Pettigrew, chief engineer; Alexander McDermott, of Sarnia, second engineer; Mr. Mackenzie, purser, nephew of Alexander Mackenzie, of Sarnia; Alexander Taylor, chief steward, of either Buffalo or Cleveland; Mr. Jones, steerage steward, of Scotland. The other names, consisting of deck hands, firemen, waiters and others of the crew, cannot be obtained, as the ship's papers were lost.

The story of the disaster, as related by Capt. Moore, is that the Algoma passed through the St. Marys canal, bound for this port, last Friday noon. Soon after reaching Lake Superior, the wind began to freshen from the northwest, and a great bank of leaden clouds along the northern horizon, denoted the approach of heavy weather. Realizing, however, that the Algoma was one of the strongest and most powerful steamers afloat, and well able to cope with even a severe gale, Capt. Moore kept her on her course, but as night approached the wind continued to increase in violence, and by dark had developed into one of the fiercest and most destructive gales ever experienced on the upper lakes. As the gale increased the sea began to make, and before midnight Lake Superior was lashed into a wilderness of seething foam; while the spray froze as it came, and howled, great seas swept completely over the struggling steamer. The situation was made all the more terrible by a blinding snow storm, that set in before morning. It was impossible to see the length of the vessel.

The passengers and crew were terrified beyond measure, and momentarily expected to see the steamer plunge to the bottom. By instructions of Capt. Moore, the officers circulated among the passengers, trying to allay their fears. They were panic-stricken, however, and huddled together in the cabin, where the screams and prayers of the women and children could be heard above the thundering of the gale. Saturday morning Isle Royal was sighted, and Capt. Moore headed the steamer for Rock Harbor, where he hoped to gain shelter. The Island forms a natural harbor of refuge, but near the entrance there is a dangerous reef, and just as the steamer was nearing the entrance she struck the reef.

There was a terrific shock, and then the steamer came to a full stop. The passengers rushed out of the cabin and questioned the officers as to them what had happened. "We are on a reef, replied Capt. Moore, "but if you will only keep as calm as possible, I trust all will be safely landed." Just then one of the crew reported that the steamer's bottom had been punctured, and that she was filling with water. The boats were at once got in readiness, and all started to leave the steamer, but just as they were about to push off from the steamer slipped off the reef and disappeared with an angry roar. The water was covered with the struggling forms of men and women, and then all was quiet. Only 14 lived to tell the tale. These got into one of the boats, but were powerless to save themselves, as they were without oars. Capt. Moore, however, wrenched a foot board from the bottom of the boat, and with this as a paddle succeeded in working the boat to the island, where the survivors were picked up by the Athabaska.

Mr. Bentley, the manager of the line, has sent out tugs from here with instructions to search Isle Royal for any survivors that may possibly have got ashore, and to pick up and take care of any bodies that may be found. The tugs are now at the scene of the wreck.

Opening of the New Orleans Exposition.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—The inaugural ceremonies of the World, South and Central American Exposition are progressing smoothly. The commercial exchanges are closed and all other business is in a measure suspended and flags are displayed throughout the city and on the shipping. The initial feature of the ceremonies today was a procession of military organizations, followed by a long line of carriages occupied by the managers of the exposition, United States and city officials, foreign consuls and invited guests.

The procession arrived at the exposition wharf soon after one o'clock and moved toward the main building on the grounds of the exposition. The attendance at the exposition is large. The procession soon reached Music Hall, where the opening exercises were held. Director General Burke presided and introduced the President of the United States, of Boston. The committee on organization reported that it unanimously recommended formation of a New England Sunday School Association; that the present efficient management be continued, and that later in the day they would present a constitution and a list of officers. The secretary read a greeting by the President T. W. Bicknell of Dorchester; one of the vice presidents, Hon. Nelson Dingley of Lewiston, Me.; executive committee (Maine), George M. Howe of Lewiston and A. G. Dilley of Portland.

Rev. B. P. Snow of Biddeford, Me., spoke of the work in that State. He said that the Congregationalists there have now 21,000 church members and 22,620 Sunday school attendants. Of the 500,000 persons not yet connected with Sunday schools, about 100,000 are under 18 years of age.

THE ANTI-CHINESE TROUBLES.

Citizens of Seattle, W. T., Organizing to Preserve the Peace.

SEATTLE, W. T., Nov. 10.—Last night a meeting was held in the Opera House, which was attended by the clergy, lawyers, merchants, manufacturers and law abiding citizens generally. After speeches by Judge Burke, Assistant U. S. Attorney Lofland and others an organization 500 strong was effected for the purpose of preserving the peace whenever the the troops are withdrawn if the occasion should arise, and thereafter they will be divided into three companies and will be armed with rifles. A meeting will be held tomorrow to elect officers. The grand jury is now in session and it is thought indictments will be brought against the ringleaders of the anti-Chinese mob.

MISERY AND STARVATION.

Sixty Families Reported in a Terrible Condition.

QUEBEC, Nov. 10.—A letter received from Point aux Esquimaux in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, tells a harrowing tale of the misery and starvation at that place. Some 60 families there have no food and will surely die of starvation, unless aid is forthcoming. Some 23 men left the place to obtain work in the woods, but say lumber merchants would not employ them.

Alpha Delta Phi.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 10.—The annual initiation of the Alpha Delpha Phi Society occurred tonight. Ten new members of the freshman class were admitted. The banquet was held in White River Junction. H. H. Burnham of Biddeford, Me., acted as toastmaster and responses were made by F. V. Johnson of Bradford, Vt., D. Goodenow of Portland, H. P. Blair of Manchester, and others.

At a meeting of 150 citizens held at Tappan, N. Y., Monday night, resolutions were adopted denouncing the destruction of the Andre monument; declaring that it was desirable that the spot of Andre's execution should be marked by a suitable memorial stone; and commending the zeal manifested by Cyrus W. Field in perpetuating past Revolutionary events by erecting such a monument.

England Formally Declares War Against Burmah.

All Foreign Subjects There Ordered Into the British Lines.

Depression in Shipbuilding on the Clyde Causing Destitution.

Servians Cross the Border and Attack a Bulgarian Outpost.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The Commercial Advertiser's London despatch says: A cabinet council was held at the official residence of the First Lord of the Treasury today, and the reply of King Thebaw to England's ultimatum having been read the cabinet declared war against Burmah, and the formal declaration with the Queen's sanction has been issued. The French government and the Burmese minister resident of Paris have been notified. All foreign subjects remaining in Burmah are required to come into the British lines. The British army of invasion is advancing 15,000 strong, the greater portion on steamers, and the first military operation will be the bombardment by the ironclad Flotilla of the Minhla forts.

The Balkan Difficulty.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—It is stated that leaders of the Unionist party in Roumelia have had a meeting with the Russian consul and other Russian representatives at Philippopolis, but without result. The Roumelians refused to listen to anything affecting the position of Prince Alexander.

Fifty Servians recently crossed the frontier near Tru and attacked a Bulgarian outpost of 10 men. One of the Servians was killed. The attacking party subsequently retired.

A party of Servians inspecting the Bulgarian frontier fell on the Bulgarian commander in the Kustendil district. The commander was not injured.

The Irish Question

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Daily News this morning endorses the maintenance of the union of England and Ireland as a subject of paramount importance and as essential to preserve the integrity of the empire. It says "it would be wise to make timely and judicious concessions. There is only one way to prevent Parnell from dictating his own terms, and that is to return a Liberal majority to Parliament."

The Times considers that Mr. Gladstone's Irish argument for the need of a Liberal majority in Parliament is weak. He is willing to go many lengths, except to a disunion of Ireland and England. Therefore it is immaterial whether Liberals or conservatives deal with the question, as neither party can go farther. All will do their utmost to save the unity of the empire. A Liberal unity, covering the dissention of Whigs and Radicals on church, Irish and other questions, must collapse under the stress of events and leave the nation in the gravest difficulty.

The Eliza Armstrong Case.

The trial of Mr. Stead, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, Mr. Sampson Jacques of the same paper, Mrs. Rebecca Jarrett and Madame Louise Maurey on the charge of indecently assaulting Eliza Armstrong, was begun today at the central criminal court in London.

The prosecution announced that all the charges against Bramwell Booth had been withdrawn, and that the conspiracy charge against the defendants had been abandoned.

Eliza Armstrong testified regarding the alleged indecent assault on her, her evidence so far being a repetition of her former statements. The prisoners, except Madame Maurey, were not represented by counsel.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty of indecent assault against all four of the prisoners. The judge then passed sentence on the prisoners as follows: Mr. Stead, three months; Rebecca Jarrett, six months; Sampson Jacques, one month; all without hard labor; and Madame Louise Maurey, six months with hard labor.

An Outbreak in Limerick.

LIMERICK, Nov. 10.—Owing to the recent civilian attacks, a large party of the King's Royal Rifles broke out of the barracks here tonight, armed with bayonets, and made an indiscriminate attack upon the people residing in the vicinity. One man was stabbed in the head and three or four severely wounded. Tickets were immediately sent out and the mayor and a large force of police soon arrived and suppressed the disorder. People residing in the vicinity fled in terror to their homes and barricaded the doors. The soldiers were eventually conveyed back to the barracks.

Business Depression in Glasgow.

GLASGOW, Nov. 10.—The depression which has existed for some time in the shipbuilding trade of the Clyde is increasing in severity and there are so many men out of employment that the relief committees find great difficulty in supplying even food for the distressed people. Forty-seven stowaways were discovered recently in the hold of a vessel which was about to sail for America.

Foreign Notes.

The French government has decided to reduce school fees in cases in which several brothers attend school, and to educate free every ninth child in a family.

Mariotti, the would-be assassin of M. de Freycinet, has been pronounced a monomaniac.

Dr. Hermann Weber, president of the, LL. D., F. R. S., an eminent English physiologist, is dead. He published an important work entitled "Principles of General and Comparative Physiology," and his reputation was widely extended by his excellent work called "Principles of Human Physiology." For many years he edited "The British and Foreign Medico-Chirurgical Review." He died from the effects of terrible burns caused by the upsetting of a lamp while he was taking a vapor bath for rheumatism.

SMALL POX.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 9.—The appearance of small pox in this city has created considerable alarm. Active steps have, however, been taken to force isolation and strengthen sanitary regulations. There are now 20 cases reported, and it is feared that half as many more have been kept quiet. The disease was discovered in a hotel on St. Patrick street today, and the premises were at once placed under the surveillance of the police. So far the health officers have had little difficulty in carrying out compulsory vaccination among the French Canadian population, who in this city number 10,000.

THE PEOPLE'S FERRY.

Full Report of the Evidence and Arguments.

The matter of the petition for a landing for the People's Ferry came up before the county commissioners at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Hon. Henry B. Cleaves, in behalf of the petitioners, stated that, after the objections which had been raised by the harbor commissioners and the city government as to the practicability of the providing of a landing at the head of the dock at Custom House Wharf, their objections being that the dock was so long and narrow that it would be a serious interruption of business, and dangerous running a large ferry boat several times hourly into one of the public docks occupied by shipping and for like purposes, in deference to the wishes of the harbor commissioners and the city government the petitioners would consent that the petition for a landing at that place be dismissed. The petitioners now ask for a landing at the end of Portland Pier, this being considered the most suitable place.

At 11 o'clock the county commissioners visited Portland Pier to view the location of the landing now proposed. There were present Hon. H. B. Cleaves and Hon. J. H. Drummond, representing the ferry; City Solicitor Symonds, representing the city; District Attorney Bird, representing the proprietors of the pier; Mayor Deering,

STATE OF MAINE.

BY THE GOVERNOR.

A PROCLAMATION.

By the advice and consent of the Executive Council, I appoint THURSDAY, the 26th day of November, as a day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise.

It is eminently fitting that a fashion so rational, transmitted to us as it has been through succesive generations as a New England custom, should ever be reverentially continued; for its proper observance is well calculated to foster in the hearts of the people a realizing sense of entire dependence upon God for all spiritual and temporal blessings.

This Autumnal season finds us enjoying the fruits of the labors of the toiling husbandman in an abundant harvest. Our State has been prospered in all its material interests. Our educational and religious efforts during the year have been blessed by beneficent results. Temperance and other moral reforms are still advancing. "The pestilence, that walketh in darkness," has passed us by unharmed. For these and many other National and State blessings let each heart return a joyful thanksgiving, both in the public sanctuary, and around the family fireside, not forgetting to review its individual causes for gratitude; especially let our people rejoice for all those successful efforts which have been made in the past to strengthen the unity of the States and the integrity of the Republic. Let the poor and suffering be everywhere remembered, both by sympathy and bountiful material aid from the more favored; "Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Given at the Council Chamber at Augusta, this fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eight-five, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and tenth.

FREDERICK ROBIE.

By the Governor,
ORAMANDAL SMITH, Secretary of State.

The goddess of Reform is becoming impatient.

A word from Mr. Hendricks saying that the result in New York is an endorsement of his administration is now in order.

The silence of the Democratic press on the Cincinnati frauds is a very hopeful sign of the times.

The appointment of Secretary Bayard's son to be Secretary of the Territory of Arizona will of course set the Democratic press into hysterics on the subject of nepotism.

Sir John Macdonald has respited Riel till the sixteenth, hoping, no doubt, that before that time something may turn up to let him out of his unpleasant dilemma.

Sam Jones will hold revival meetings in Washington while campaign is in session. It is to be hoped the Democratic majority may be converted.

The Atlanta Constitution suggests Hendricks and Hill as a ticket for 1888. This is only another proof that the Democratic mind is more firmly fixed on the spoils than reform.

King Theebaw wants to fight, and the British have promptly gone up the Irriwaddy to accommodate him. After he gets through his mill it is safe to say that he will be a wiser but a sadder king—if he is king at all.

The New York Times still persists in claiming that Davenport was defeated because General Logan and Judge Foraker were allowed to make speeches for him. The very funny man of the Times received a Presidential appointment some time ago, but it seems that his place has been filled by a man even funnier.

The New York Evening Post is able to find one pleasant feature of the election. "For the first time," it says, "in the last fifty years we had a canvass in which office-holders took no part." What does the Post consider President Cleveland, Secretary Manning, Secretary Whitney and Colonel Lamont?

The appointment of Mr. Saltonstall to the Boston collectorship doesn't please the Democratic "workers", no more than the appointment of General Anderson did. One of these gentry expresses the opinion, more in sorrow than in anger, that this administration is a "Republican administration any way" and that it is considered by it a crime to be a worker in the ranks.

The Prohibition vote of New York will probably not much exceed 30,000. That, however, is an increase of 5,000 on last year's vote. Just what proportion of the men who voted the Prohibition ticket voted it out of regard for temperance it would be interesting to know. That a considerable part of the vote came from men who take no special interest in prohibition but for one reason and another have fallen out with the two principal parties, is undoubtedly a fact.

When Cleveland received his big majority in New York in 1882, it was reported that Mr. Tilden looked twenty-five years younger. When the Democrats elected a President a year ago Mr. Tilden was about the streets looking fifty years younger. And now it is said that Governor Hill's victory reduces his age fifteen years. At this rate a few more Democratic victories will make him young enough to run again for the Presidency. And about a dozen more will qualify him for the Kindergarten.

The Boston Herald has succeeded in obtaining the views of Govs. Knott of Kentucky, Perry of Florida, Hughes of Arkansas, and governor-elect Lee of Virginia as to the effect on Southern politics and the negro vote, of the election in New York. No more recent subject than carpet-bag rule and the consequent necessity of Democratic ascendancy seems to have engaged the thoughts of these gentlemen. They write that their people and their party are loyal, that they welcome all newcomers, political speakers or others, and that they think the negro values the right of suffrage less than he once did.

We regret to feel obliged to call the attention of those prominent Republicans and Republican newspapers that hastened to congratulate the newly-appointed Democratic Collector of Customs at Portland, to the fact that these generous political compliments have been very promptly responded to by Collector Anderson with the summary removal of Hon. Sidney Perham from the position of Appraiser, to make a place for the Augusta correspondent of the Argus, and the removal of the Asssistant Appraiser to make room for the agent of the Boston Post.—Bangor Whig.

And we regret to feel obliged to call the attention of that prominent Republican newspaper, the Bangor Whig, to the fact that the Collector has nothing to do with the removal or appointment of appraiser at this port. Ex-Governor Perham was not turned out by Collector Anderson.

IGNORING THE LAW.

The Bridgton News referring to the appointments of Messrs. Smith and Moulton and the Rev. Mr. Bellows to positions in the custom house by Collector Anderson, says the offices which all three of them are to fill are specially exempted from the civil service law. Messrs. Smith and Moulton are appointed deputy collectors, and it is true that this office does not come within that law. Mr. Bellows is appointed clerk of customs. The Bridgton News will oblige us greatly by pointing out the section of the law, or the rule of the commission which exempts Mr. Bellows from the necessity of undergoing a competitive examination. By the terms of the act of Congress all officers who have to be confirmed by the Senate are exempted from examination. A clerk of customs is is not an officer of that description. Rule XIX, adopted by the commission and approved by the President and now in force, is as follows:

There are exempted from examination the following: 1. The confidential clerk or secretary of any head of a department or office. 2. Cashiers of collectors. 3. Cashiers of postmasters. 4. Superintendents of money order divisions in post offices. 5. The direct custodians of money for whose fidelity another officer is under official bonds and disbursing officers having the custody of money who give bonds; but these exceptions shall not extend to any official below the grade of assistant cashier or teller. 6. Persons employed exclusively in the secret service of the government, or as translators, or interpreters, or stenographers. 7. Persons whose employment is exclusively professional, but medical examiners are not included among such persons. 8. Chief clerks, deputy collectors, deputy naval officers, deputy surveyors of customs, and superintendents, or chiefs of divisions or bureaus.

These cover all the special exemptions that the law or the rules contain. Mr. Bellows's office is not included in the above list. Possibly the News has been misled because Mr. Bellows has been styled the private secretary of Collector Anderson by the newspapers. As a matter of fact the Collector is not allowed a private secretary, and if Gen. Anderson had nominated Mr. Bellows to such an office the Treasury department must have refused to confirm him, because there is no authorization of law for any such employment in the Portland custom house. Mr. Bellows is clerk of customs, and no provision can be found anywhere exempting such an officer from a competitive examination.

Collector Anderson undoubtedly made a very excellent appointment when he commissioned Mr. Bellows, but it looks very much as if in making it without a competitive examination he had disobeyed the civil service law.

THE MAINE BROTHERS ON THE OUTSIDE.
Boston Journal.

The office brokers who control the Democratic State Committee in Maine appear to be permanently out at Washington. Chairman Brown's candidate for Postmaster of Dover has been laid out, and Mr. E. R. Pierce of Augusta gets the Appraisership of Portland. Mr. Pierce was a Greenbacker and is now a Democrat for revenue, but he is a better man than the Brown clique would recommend.

GIVE THE RULE TIME AND IT WILL WORK.
St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Prof. Marsh certifies to the remarkable fact, evolved by a long and careful process of investigation, that in the race for life the survival of any particular group of animals depends upon the sizes of the brain, or in other words, that the law that the weakest go to the wall in the great struggle of nature means the weakest in brain power, and not in physical force. But this is worth nothing in the way of explaining why it is that the Democratic party continues to live and to gain victories,

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Studies in Shakespeare. By Richard Grant White. (Boston and New York: Houghton, Mifflin & Co; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.) Mr. White has passed away since he penned these papers on Shakespeare, and his death is sincerely regretted by all who knew him, or were familiar with his writings. He was a frequent contributor to our periodical literature, and has laid us all under deep obligations by his many valuable essays on a great variety of literary topics. He was a sincere man, an honest critic, who wrote as he thought, and was as independent in his thinking as he was fearless in writing. Once at least he slopped over, and that was when he set himself up as a censor of our public schools which he assailed in no measured terms. The attack did no harm at home, but in England his article is often cited, as conclusive evidence against our system of free education, and is of course brought forward as a warning against the introduction of a similar system in England.

But we can pardon Mr. White's ill-timed and ill-judged phillipic against our schools, in view of his real service as a critic of Shakespeare and other standard authors in prose and verse. Mr. White had a keen intellect and a fine sense of great thoughts and good writing. On no subject did he so delight to expatiate as upon his favorite Shakespeare, whose works he carefully studied and critically examined. Some of the results of these studies he embodied in a series of articles which appeared first in the Atlantic Monthly, and are now included in a goodly volume where they may be read to greater advantage. Mr. White classifies the works of the poet, assigning each play to the period—one of three—in which he thinks it was written. His direction to the reader is to rely upon a careful and sympathetic reading of the poet, instead of the multifarious opinions of innumerable critics, who contradict each other and often themselves, while they pervert the meaning of more passages than they properly explain, If this is so, and we include himself in the number of unsafe guides, it follows that the best method is to read without much reference to Mr. White's opinions, or those of his numerous predecessors, but trust Shakespeare to make his meaning clear.

However, with Shakespeare as with the Scriptures, a really good commentary is sometimes a good thing and so not to be wholly passed by, but taken up and consulted on difficult and doubtful points. "In medio tutissimus ibis."

Mr. White apologizes for Shakespeare's lack of enthusiasm for women on the ground that his own marriage with an uncongenial mate is sufficient to account for it. But we think Ruskin is nearer right in his assumption that Shakespeare's ideal of womanhood is a high one, and that in this as in other things he is excelled by no other poet. His men villains are many and often monstrous, but excepting Lady Macbeth, Hamlet's mother and the two daughtern of Lear, Shakespeare's women walk as queens and seldom fail to fascinate men.

Principles of Political Economy. By Simon Newcomb, Ph. D., LL. D. (New York: Harper & Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.) This work treats of those principles of economic science, which must be mastered by any one who would form an intelligent judgment of the causes which influence the public well-being. The principles laid down in the first four books will be accepted by all who understand the subject, as forming a well-ascertained, if limited, body of doctrine. The very fact that the propositions are well established, leads to their being reached, not by dogmatic statements, but by courses of thought which leave the reader free at every step to compare the ideas presented to him with all the facts he may have learned from observation. All questions of public policy have been condensed into the concluding book. Here, the author allows himself more freedom of discussion and treatment, but still encourages the reader to reach his own conclusions by his own methods of thought. The great want of citizens who are to exercise an influence upon the policy of the nation is understanding rather than knowledge. Knowledge will be acquired by experience of the world, whether one is or is not educated; but this knowledge will be barren of results without guiding principles by which to interpret and arrange the facts observed. A command of principles, however, requires a course of training and study which can seldom be undertaken successfully after one has entered on the business of life. This work, therefore, has elements of great value to the student. Having mastered its first four books, one will be prepared to proceed intelligently in the study of more advanced branches, or in the explanation of those economic phenomena of daily occurrence in the course of active life.

The Andover Review for November.

Prof. Palmer of Harvard leads off with a vigorous defence of the Elective system, which has been gradually developed in that college. Prof. Torrey continues the discussion of Leibnitz's Theodicee. Mr. Hamilton Wright Mabie reviews Silas Lapham under the title of A Typical Novel. Prof. J. W. Hunt discourses on Methods of Study, Rev. D. L. Leonard exposes the abominations of Mormonism, and insists on the suppression of polygamy, which has already become a chronic disorder in the body politic. The editorials as usual are fresh and timely, treating of the Scriptures, the Missionary Idea and Progressive Orthodoxy.

THE ENTERPRISING FIRM

—HAVE SECURED THE AGENCY FOR—
THE
New American Sewing Machine
—IN—
PORTLAND AND VICINITY,
and this popular machine is now on sale at their ware-rooms,
Cor. of Exchange & Federal Sts.
It is conceded by all who have given the American machine an examination, that it stands second to none ever manufactured. It has many points of superiority over other machines.
It has a high arm!
It runs light and noiseless!
It is seldom out of order!
It is the simplest machine ever made!
The device for lengthening and shortening stitch while the machine is in motion, is peculiar to the American!
The dial plate indicates the number of stitches per inch!
It sews light and heavy fabrics without changing the tension, and never drops a stitch!
The Tension Liberator releases the tension when Presser Foot is raised, which allows goods to be drawn easily from under the needle without pulling the thread!
The shuttle is self threading!
The needle is self setting!
The feed is strong and positive!
The feed requires no spring!
The simplicity of all the mechanical parts, and the ease with which the machine is handled, renders it the most desirable family machine made!
The attachments are simply perfect!
Try it and we know you will buy!
We challenge honorable competition!
The American Machine has come to the front, and it has come to stay.
Call and see the New American, No. 7.

THE PRESS.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 11.

WIT AND WISDOM.

"Calm as a plumber" is a Boston girl's description of well-bred repose.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicines only; very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging.

Affairs in turkey land are beginning to assume a threatening aspect. It will soon be anything but a season of Thanksgiving for the gobblers.

S. B. Durfey, mate of steamer Arizona, has had his foot badly jammed. Thomas' Electric oil cured it. Nothing equal to it for a quick pain reliever.

An exchange says that a folded newspaper placed under the coat in the small of the back is an excellent substitute for an overcoat. Now is the time to subscribe.

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, &c., will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents.

Josh Billings was very impatient of the airs of the Boston shop girls. On one occasion he asked one of the maidens if she was the attendant who had sold him a handkerchief the day before. "I am the saleslady who served you, she said. "Well," said Josh, "I will take a dozen more, and as I wish to get them to my washerlady at once I will get you to send them to my carriage around the corner. My coach gentleman can't get to the door just now in consequence of the ash gentleman blocking the way."

For twenty-four years I have been a great sufferer with inflammatory rheumatism. Athlophoros is the only medicine I have ever found to do me any good. I am 70 years old, and wish to testify to the benefits I have received from it. Amos Gilbert. Fair Haven, Ct.

The poet who found books in the running brooks was evidently not fond of deep subjects.

Slade's Epicurean Spices are double the strength of other brands, they are the best selected spices, powdered perfectly pure.

TRADE SSS MARK

Scrofula of Lungs.

I am now 49 years old, and have suffered for the last fifteen years with lung trouble. I have spent thousands of dollars to arrest the march of this disease; but temporary relief was all that I obtained. I was unfit for any manual labor for several years. A friend strongly recommended the use of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), claiming that he himself had been greatly benefitted by its use in some lung troubles. I resolved to try it. The results are remarkable. My cough has left me, my strength has returned, and I weigh sixty pounds more than I ever did in my life. It has been three years since I stopped the use of the medicine, but I have had no return of the disease, and there are no pains or weakness felt in my lungs. I do the hardest kind of mechanical work, and feel as well as I ever felt since I was a boy. These, I know, are wonderful statements to make, but I an honest when I say that I owe my existence and health today to S. S. S. I would be recreant to the duty I owe to humanity if I failed to bear this cheerful testimony to the merits of this wonderful medicine. T. J. HOLT,

Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1885.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

That terrible enemy, malarial gloom, shatters the most vigorous constitution, and the after effects of the alkaloid often taken to arrest it, quinine, are scarcely less pernicious. The best remedy, not alone in malarial stricken regions on this continent, but also in those portions of South and Central America where malarial fevers are most prevalent and malignant—is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Its remedial and preventive effects as an opponent of fevers are owing to its tonic influence. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally. nov2MWF&w1m

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays the pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Charles D. Fredericks, 770 Broadway, New York, the celebrated photographer, says that Allcock's Porous Plasters have been used by himself and family over twenty years. He found them wonderfully efficacious in coughs, colds, and pains in the back and side. Applied to the pit of the stomach they quickly cured him of indigestion and dyspepsia. He also found them admirable liver regulators when applied on the right side.

SUPERIOR COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE BONNEY.

TUESDAY.—James P. Wentworth vs. Edward H. Woodside. Action to recover $50 alleged to be due as boot in a horse trade. The parties swapped horses at Yarmouth and the plaintiff says the defendant agreed to pay him $50 to boot. The defendant denied that he agreed to pay any boot and claimed that they swapped even. The defendant also claimed that the plaintiff could not recover on the ground that the contract was made on Sunday and was therefore void. To this the plaintiff replied that that defense was not open to him under sec. 116, chap. 82, Revised Statutes, which provides that no person who receives a valuable consideration for a contract, express or implied, made on the Lord's day shall defend any action upon such contract on the ground that it was so made, until he restores such consideration. It was admitted that the defendant had not restored the horse or offered to. The defendant claimed that the statute did not apply and was not intended by the legislature to cover a case like this; that the plaintiff before this suit was brought had disposed of the horse he received and therefore it was of no use for defendant to offer to swap back as he could not place the parties in statu quo. The court ruled that the statute did apply to a case like this and that the defense was not open to the defendant. Verdict for the plaintiff for $51.72.

F. V. Chase for plaintiff.
Weston Thompson for defendant.

Arthur Palmer vs. John A. Thomas. Action on an account annexed for labor. Defendant files an account in set off. On trial.

The semi-annual meeting of the Maine Branch of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions will be held at Williston church, Thursday, Nov. 12th, from 10 a. m. to 3.30 p. m. A collation will be served at noon. Half fares on Maine Central Railroad.

The third regular meeting of the Longfellow C. L. S. C., at Chestnut street vestry, Monday evening, was quite well attended. The reading by Mrs. Burrowes and Miss Goold were an enjoyable feature of the programme, and the essays by Miss Foster and Mr. Laughlin were scholarly and interesting. The closing remarks by President Bashford are always looked forward to with interest by the members as they are by no means the least entertaining portion of the programme if they do come in at the close of the evening's work.

Eagle No. 2.

The Eagle hook and ladder truck was placed in its house yesterday after having been entirely rebuilt and made practically a new truck, the hind wheels, seat, arms, and hat rack being all that is left of the old machine The frame is 23 feet long and is attached to the running geor in the strongest possible manner. It has room for carrying twelve ladders and is so built that the ladders may be easily handled. In the center of the frame is a large box for tools and clothing, with doors opening from each side of the truck. The top of this box is covered with oil cloth and will serve as a good storage place for various necessary articles. Attached to this box are hooks for hanging four water buckets and six fire hooks may be hung beneath it. There are places on the side of the frame near the hind wheels for two axes on each side of the truck and at the end is a chance to hang four lanterns and two coils of rope. At the sides are too rubber covered foot rests and nickel plated handle bars. The frame has been lowered six inches and is three feet longer than formerly. The truck is handsomely painted, being red in color with black and and white trimmings. All the bright work is nickel plated. A large gong is placed beneath the driver's foot rest. The name of the truck is upon each side in handsome gold letters.

Caught at North Conway.

Harry Austin, who hired the team from Mr. Brown, the stable keeper, Monday, and did not return with the team nor the thirty dollars he stole from the cook at the Baker House, was arrested at North Conway yesterday morning upon information telegraphed by the Portland police. Officer Freeman T. Merrill and Mr. Brown went to North Conway and will bring the young man and the team to Portland.

A Cook's Wages.

An interesting case will come up in the United States District Court sitting in admiralty this afternoon at 2 o'clock, involving the right of the cook of a fisherman, under a fishing contract, in which it is stipulated that the crew shall pay the cook's wages, to proceed against the vessel. H. D. Hadlock will appear for the libellant, and Hon. Geo. E. Bird for the respondent.

The Court of Inquiry.

The military court of inquiry which was ordered to convene at the First Regiment armory in this city, yesterday, did not convene. The officer who was to have been court-martialed tendered his resignation, which was accepted, and the charges were withdrawn making a court-martial unnecessary.

BACK FROM THE DEAD.

The Supposed Death and Resuscitation of Joseph Dyer.

The Story as Told by the Young Man's Promised Bride.

Mr. Marston, keeper of the Home for Aged Men, yesterday reported a wonderful story which he learned from a sister of Miss Blanche Edwards who is employed as a domestic in the family of H. B. Brown, Esq. The story as told by Miss Edwards who is engaged to young Joseph Dyer, the man who is regularly buried after his supposed death and then resurrected and brought back to life by doctors is as follows:

Fourteen months ago, Dyer who was on the way to visit Miss Edwards was thrown from his carriage on Portland bridge, the horse being frightened by a drunken man, and carried to the house of his father, Joseph Dyer, in Cape Elizabeth. Here he lived for six days, a part of the time being in an unconscious state. Miss Edwards was sent for and went to see her unfortunate lover. She was present and recognized by him on the sixth day after the accident, on which day Dyer suddenly died to all appearances. This was on the third day of September, 1884. Three days later Dayer was buried in Evergreen Cemetery in due form, Miss Edwards being present and seeing the body in the coffin. She went to the cemetery in one of the carriages, and has now a bouquet of flowers which were in the young man's hand at the funeral and were preserved. The minister who officiated was the pastor of the church attended by the Dyers, but Miss Edwards does not know his name or where the church is over which he had charge. After the funeral both Miss Edwards and the mother of the supposed deceased assumed deep mourning.

Some time after the funeral Mr. Dyer with his family removed to some place in Deering or Westbrook. Here they were visited once by Miss Edwards during the past summer. She said that she took the Deering horse cars to Morrill's Corner where she was met and driven some two or three miles to the new home of the Dyers. She is unable to state just where this is, but said that they drove through woods and made a good many turns before reaching the dwelling, a brick house standing alone in the midst of woods. After concluding her visit Miss Edwards was brought back to town.

Two or three weeks ago, friends told Miss Edwards that Mrs. Dyer had for some time dreamed of her son, and believed that he was coming back to her. This led her to leave off her mourning, and about two weeks ago Miss Edwards did the same. On Saturday morning last, Mr. John Wheeler of Lewiston, called upon Miss Edwards, and told her that young Dyer had come back and would come to see her that day. When the evening arrived, the message brought by Mr. Wheeler proved true, for Dyer, in company with his parents, called upon Miss Edwards. At first the young man did not seem to recognize the young lady, but as he looked at her the truth gradually came to him, and upon being asked if he knew the lady he inquired if she had a ring which he had given her, and then remarked that she looked pale and thin. It is unnecessary to say that the meeting was a happy one, despite the shock it gave Miss Edwards. The story of the resuscitation of Dyer was told Miss Edwards. Among the doctors who attended the injured man was Dr. Harmon of Albany, New York. After the funeral Dr. Harmon had Dyer's form constantly before his eyes, and he finally determined to recover the body to ascertain if there was any foundation to the hope which had formed in his mind that his patient had been buried while in a state of syncope, instead of being dead as thought by all who had seen him. He accordingly opened the grave, in company with a Dr. Foster, also from New York, and upon examination found that the constant vision of young Dyer had not deceived him, and that the young man was in reality in a state of suspended animation.

In the meantime, the dreams with which Mrs. Dyer had been visited had so firmly implanted in her a belief in the return of her son, that late last Friday evening the grave in Evergreen Cemetery was opened and the coffin removed. It was carried to the Dyers' house and there opened at midnight. Notwithstanding the dreams with which she had been visited, Mrs. Dyer could not believe then the coffin did not contain the body of her son, but as the lid was removed it disclosed to view the empty casket. The body was gone. At 1 o'clock, an hour after the casket was opened, Joseph Dyer, who for fourteen months had been dead to his family and the world, appeared before his parents and resumed his place in the family.

Miss Edwards was sent for, to be present Friday night when the coffin was opened but did not go and therefore has no very accurate knowledge of the reception of Dyer by his parents. On Monday, however, Dyer, in company with the two physicians to whom he owes his life, again visited Miss Edwards. He told the physicians to tell Miss Edwards about him and they told her their patient had been under treatment by them for about seven months. This leaves seven months during which time the whereabouts of Dyer are not known to Miss Edwards. The couple have renewed the engagement broken by Mr. Dyer's supposed death. This completed Miss Edward's story, her knowledge of many of the facts being necessarily limited as she says she has seen Dyer but twice.

The books of Evergreen Cemetery contain no entry of the burial of Joseph Dyer and Portland undertakers have no record of any such funeral. The law requires that a return be made to the city clerk of the burials in Evergreen Cemetery, but no such return has been filed in this case. The alleged opening of the grave and the removal of the body by the doctors has never been suspected by the officials at the cemetery, and they and people living in the vicinity are ignorant of the alleged opening of the grave for a second time upon the night of Friday last. Meanwhile, Dyer is said to be attending to his farm duties apparently undisturbed by his burial and resurrection, although he is reticent in regard to the events which followed his awaking after the funeral.

PERSONAL.

The many friends of Mr. John F. Fogg will regret to hear he is confined to his home with a severe rheumatic attack.

The Governor and Mrs. Robie left their home yesterday for Boston, where they will attend the meeting of the National Grange this week.

Wm. E. Wood and wife, St. John, N. B.; James Blakeley, New York; W. A. Hathaway, Providence, were among the guests at the Falmouth Hotel last night.

Capt. J. A. Gallagher went to Bangor yesterday to complete arrangements for a trip of the Montgomery Guards to that city about Thanksgiving.

The funeral of Dr. Harvey Harlow will take place in Augusta this morning at 10.30 o'clock, instead of Thursday, as first announced.

The Governor and Council, accompanied by Secretary of State Smith and Col. H. M. Sprague of Augusta, will visit the Perkins Institute for the Blind and the Massachusetts Home for the Feeble Minded, which are both located in Boston, this week. They will be absent three weeks, going today and returning Saturday.

Huron Salt.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in our columns of Messrs. Howes, Hilton & Harris, who are agents for the celebrated Huron Salt for table and dairy use, which is now for the first time being offered in this State. The salt appears to be very much whiter and dryer than the salt usually offered for sale by our dealers, and by the company's process of manufacture, it becomes granulated, and the particles remain seperated, whereas in the ordinary ground salt the particles adhere together and become solid, we think therefore that Huron Salt, must be very popular with all house keepers.

Temperance.

Last evening one of the best temperance meetings ever held in the Gospel Mission took place. After prayer and reading the scriptures, Mr. L. S. Berry of the Lynn, Mass., Praying Band was introduced and made some strong remarks on the cause of temperance, after which Rev. S. F. Pearson addressed the meeting on what he called one eyed temperance, and in which he drew the attention of his hearers in a happy manner to the one eyed ideas of many people.

AUGUSTA, Nov. 9, 1885.

To Messrs. George F. Talbot, Edward H. Elwell, Asa Dalton, Bion Bradbury, and others, of Portland:

Gentlemen,—I have had the honor to receive your communication, inviting me to deliver an address in your city at an early day upon my recollections of cotemporaries in the United States Senate nearly forty years ago.

Such an invitation from so large a number of eminent citizens of Portland is appreciated by me so highly that it increases my regret at my inability to accept it. For some considerable time to come my engagements are such as must entirely engross my attention.

If, however, my health and strength be such during the coming winter as to warrant it, I will avail myself of the privilege of addressing you upon the topic suggested. If such contingency shall occur, I will seasonably advise you.

Most respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
JAMES W. BRADBURY.

Mrs. Howe's Poems.

To the Editor of the Press:

The many friends of Mrs. Caroline Dana Howe in Fryeburg are much gratified to learn that a volume of her poems is soon to appear. This beautiful village is the birthplace of Mrs. Howe, and takes a special pride in the fame of the fair authoress. We are glad that the talented lady has at last heeded the advice of the admirers of her verse and song, and that she is about to give them a more abiding home and a more beautiful setting than they have found in the newspaper and on the page of the magazine from whence they have been copied again and again till many of them have become household words. It is certain that her large circle of friends will welcome the volume with special delight, and that it will receive a greeting most kindly from the public generally. Os. K. R.

The Dallas.

The trial trip of the revenue steamer Dallas took place yesterday in Casco Bay, with a run of four hours. The machinery worked admirably. Not a journal heated, and the speed and handling of the vessel was greatly improved. Defects which have caused years of annoyance to the officers have all been taken out of the engine, and all are much plased with the good results. Mr. John A. Lidback is the contractor and deserves much praise for the perfection of his work. The machinery of the Dallas will be in prime order for her coming winter work.

Captain Frank Barr, late of the revenue steamer Dix, stationed at Key West, Fla., is looked for daily to take command of the Dallas.

Y. P. S. C. E.

The entertainment at the Congress Street M. E. Church, Monday evening, was a decided success. The audience was appreciative and the programme very finely rendered. Especial mention should be made of Miss Merrill and Mr. Olham, who sang in a very pleasing manner and were heartily encored. Master Charlie Lamson gave the "Carnival of Venice" with good effect, and Mr. Moulton convulsed his audience with laughter as usual and was the recipient of several encores. Great credit is due to the accompanist, Miss Durgin, and to the vocal and string quartette.

Dr. Dalton's Lecture.

Rev. Dr. Dalton's first lecture will be given to-day in the hall of the Y. M. C. A., Farrington Block, at 4 o'clock. It will be a comparison of the Greek with the leading Latin and later historians. Let none be deterred from atending this course for fear that the subjects are too far removed from their habits of thought to be of interest.

As the old is to be compared with the new, the ancient with the moderns, it follows that modern literature will necessarily be the lecturer's theme as much as the ancient, which itself is nearer to us than we are apt to think. These lectures will be free to all.

Civil Service Examinations.

The examinations for applicants for positions in the civil service in this locality will take place at the High School building in this city, commencing at 11 a. m. today and continuing through Thursday. The local board of examiners is composed of Deputy Collector Moulton, Messrs. Horatio Hight and C. W. Roberts. Besides the applicants for local positions, it is expected there will be a large attendance of candidates for positions at Washington. Chief Examiner Lyman of the Civil Service will preside over these examinations and the decisions in these latter cases will come from Washington.

Pearl Street In Darkness.

To the Editor of the Press:

There is great complaint, and with much reason, on account of the gas lights being removed from Pearl street, thus leaving the entire street from Congress to Oxford in nearly total darkness. By the substitution of electric lights on Congress street, near the Park, and on Myrtle and Wilmot streets (corner of Cumberland), no light of consequence is thrown upon Pearl street. Formerly there was a gas light midway from Congress to Cumberland street, and another at the corner of Cumberland and Pearl, which were barely sufficient to give the requisite light for this much frequented street; both these having been removed nothing has been placed in their stead to relieve the darkness. "Let there be light!" TAXPAYER.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

CHESTNUTS.

Tonight and tomorrow evenings the Wiley-Golden party in William Gill's absurdity entitled "Chestnuts," will appear at Portland Theatre. Mr. Gill is also author of the great New York hit "Adonis," which has already run about 250 nights. The company is under the management of Robert Filkins, and has the following cast of singers and comedians: Dora Wiley, Flora Bates; Miss Keene, Mary Stuart; Georgia Knowlton, Richard Golden; and Messrs. Longworth, Keene and Cook. They carry two full and complete sets of scenery; the music is composed and arranged by Jesse Williams, musical director of the Casino, New York city. The entertainment is a comedy of the style of "Bunch of Keys," "Rag Baby," etc., and will be presented by excellent musical talent.

"Rip Van Winkle" and Joseph Jefferson will be seen next week on the Boston Globe stage.

Miss Rose Coghlan is to appear at the Park, Boston, on Monday in her successful starring play, "Our Joan."

The long promised and twice postponed debut of Mlle. Alma Fohstrom, from Imperial Russian Opera at St. Petersburg, took place at the Academy of Music, New York, Monday, in the presence of a large, critical audience. The lady possesses great beauty of face and figure and a remarkably sweet and flexible voice, and in the performance of the exacting role of Lucia displayed a high degree of talent as an actress.

IN THE RINKS.

BIJOU SKATING PARLOR.

Lovers of fun on the rollers will probably turn out in goodly numbers at the Bijou Friday evening. The management have secured the Olympian Club's Star Bicycle and Carnival Combination with their rich and elegant costumes. Those intending to costume will secure them at the rink on that morning. At 9.30 there will be a grand exhibition of bicycle riding by Wilson and Lester. This will probably be the only carnival of the season which affords a chance of 500 elegant costumes at a price within the reach of all.

He Let the Boys Go.

Down in Maine, not a thousand miles from Woodford's Corner, the teacher of the district school was surprised a few days ago by having a somewhat crumpled paper thrust into her hand by one of her boys as he passed her desk in returning from the recess. Calling the lad back from his hurried retreat toward his desk, she asked him the nature of the mysterious document.

"Please 'm, its a petition for the hoss trot."

"For the hoss trot?"

"Yes 'm, we boys wants to go, and we has drawed up a petition for shuttin' up the school so's we can go."

"But I can't close the school; you must ask the committee."

"Very well 'm, I'll do it, 'cause we just must see that trot," and taking the paper, the lad went to his seat.

The matter was forgotten in the duties of the day, but, to her surprise, the teacher was handed the petition the next morning, indorsed "The boys can go," and signed by the well known autograph of the committee man. Fate overruled the result of the kind-hearted committee men. The track was heavy, and there was no trot, but the schoolmarm had a day's shopping in Portland.—[Boston Herald.

The Kingfield Hotel Robbery.

Charles W. Young of Madison, who confessed to the robbery of the Mt. Abram House at Kingfield, by which the proprietor, Lewis Kershner, lost $950, was arraigned Thursday before Trial Justice William Dolbear at Kingfield and in default of bail was committed to the Franklin county jail to await the action of the grand jury. Friday evening he was brought to Farmington by Deputy Sheriff Thomas P. Wood and transferred to Jailer Jewell's care. Wednesday, Benjamin S., John F. and Miss Ola Gordon of Starks, whom Young states were accomplices of his in the robbery, were brought before Trial Justice Thomas Buswell at Starks. Detective Robert A. Davis of Portland appeared for the State, and Henry L. Whitcomb, Esq., of Farmington for the respondents. The Gordons were placed under $1500 bonds for their appearance at the December term of court for Somerset county. There is much excitement and feeling in regard to the case in this section.

The Patriarch of Telegraphers.

One of Maine's remarkable men is Mr. D. P. Livermore of Hallowell, who probably is the oldest telegraph operator in active service in the world. He will be 81 years old in January, and has been manager of the Hallowell office since 1850. Mr. Livermore is the father of a great family of operators. They are in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Portland, and nearly all the leading offices in the country, and they include some of the most expert of operators. There are forty or more of these telegraphers whom Mr. Livermore has taught and sent out. He speaks of them affectionately as "my boys." His own son, Mr. Chas. D. Livermore, has been manager of the Western Union office in Portland for many years. He was the first operator to read by sound in Lewiston. Mr. Livermore's daughter, Miss Emma, now deceased, was the first lady operator in the world to send a telegram. The accuracy of this statement has been established by investigation. It was several years after the telegraph was introduced before telegraphing was considered a suitable business for women.

Catarrh in the Head

Originates in scrofulous taint in the blood. Hence the proper method by which to cure catarrh, is to purify the blood. Its many disagreeable symptoms, and the danger of developing into bronchitis or that terribly fatal disease, consumption, are entirely removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which cures catarrh by purifying the blood and also tones up the system and greatly improves the general health of those who take it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I suffered three years with catarrh, and my general health was poor in consequence. When I took Hood's Sarsaparilla I found I had the right remedy. The catarrh is yielding, as Hood's Sarsaparilla is cleansing my blood, and the general tone of my system is improving. My case is of very long standing." FRANK WASHBURN, Rochester, N. Y.

Cures Catarrh

"I had catarrh nine years, and suffered terribly with it. Soon after I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla the catarrh troubled me less, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured." JANE HINEY, Lumberton, Clinton County, Ohio.

"I have been troubled with catarrh about a year, causing great soreness of the bronchial tubes and terrible headache. I saw the advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a cure for catarrh, and after taking only one bottle I am much better. My catarrh is cured, my throat is entirely well, and my headache has all disappeared." R. GIBBONS, Hamilton, Butler Co., O.
